NOTICE To Tax Exemptioners (Soldiers)

Under the new system adopted by my office and that of the Tax Collector, J. E. Hunter, you have undoubtedly received a communication from said tax collector setting out the valuation of your property for assessment.

If the assessment of your property is $1000 or under, there is no tax to pay, but if over $1000, then the notice tells you how much the tax is on the excess.

Chris S. Beck has returned from a hunting trip up near Gridley. He says the ducks saw him first. He motored home with Dr. Ida Beck, who is visiting here.

Pine Needles

The Dr. Stevens house, occupied by the Hughes family, is undergoing alterations and additions, which will probably be completed this week.

Sinclair Lewis, the author, with Mrs. Lewis, is spending the winter in Minneapolis.

The Gould family have arrived safely at their new home near Fresno. They plan to make frequent visits here.

Cameron E. Waite, nephew of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Beck, who made his home here for a year, is now a member of the 1st Pennsylvania Cavalry, encamped at Augusta, Georgia, awaiting orders to proceed to France.

Over sixty dollars, for the use of the Red Cross, was gathered in at the Liberty Tea, held at the Blue Bird last week.

Mrs. Harry Decker has returned from a three weeks' visit with relatives and friends in San Francisco.

Several Carmel horse-lovers motored over to Del Monte to take in the races.

J. Edward Walker, the well-known local artist, left yesterday for Mill Valley. He may be away for some time.

According to the church calendar of events today is All Saints Day.

Miss Anida Swift, niece of Mrs. D. W. Willard, whose home is in Tokio, Japan, is visiting here. She will accompany the Willards to Redlands.

The first installment of state and county taxes become delinquent after December 3. Carmel taxes will be delinquent after December 31.

Artist Louis Hells and family depart this week for San Francisco, stopping a day or two at San Mateo. They have resided here several months.

John Selby Hanna arrived here for a brief visit last week. On his last visit here he stayed long enough to be regarded as a permanent resident.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Koch plan to leave for the East this month. The Overstreets were their week-end guests at the Highlands.

Theodore Criley, whose new residence at the Highlands is well under way, leaves shortly for Chicago.

The Carmel city trustees will hold their monthly meeting at the City Hall next Tuesday evening.

With the assembling of the fourth and fifth grades in the new class-room on Monday, the congested conditions in the main school building are overcome, and with a new teacher, the work of instruction is less arduous.

Mrs. B. C. Bunting leaves for the city tomorrow. In the evening she will hear Maggie Teyte in "La Boheme," and on Sunday she will attend the Alma Gluck concert at the Columbia.

Mrs. T. T. Greaves, on her way to Los Angeles from San Francisco last week, stopped over here for a few days.

Miss Bertha M. Guichard is spending a brief vacation with her sister here.

The Samuels White Cedars property, recently acquired by the Lorraines, is undergoing extensive alterations.

OUR NEW LOCATION

The Pine Cone publication office and job printing establishment has moved to new quarters.

In order to have more space and also a street frontage, the old quarters were vacated in favor of the commodious Steris building store, on Ocean Avenue, across from the Postoffice.

The Postoffice will occupy the premises vacated by the Pine Cone.

Red Cross Appoints School Committee

Prompted by the great assistance rendered to the Red Cross by school children since the war began, the War Council has undertaken to organize the work.

Responding to the request of the recent school meeting, the local Red Cross chapter has created a school committee, as follows: Miss S. C. Danielson, Miss Betty Waud, Miss Powers, Miss A. C. Edmonds, Mrs. T. A. Criley, and P. C. Prince.

A meeting is to be held at headquarters next Monday afternoon, to which the public is invited.

Belgium and France are to be more to our children than the places the text books tell of. With their odd dresses, caps and shoes, the French and Belgian children are to be brothers and sisters. A fund is to be raised for those whose fathers have fallen in the war.

When a school has given a fund equal to twenty-five cents for each pupil, or when the children have made articles worth that, the school will be made an auxiliary of the Red Cross, and buttons presented to the pupils.

Cornmeal Rolls

One and one-quarter cups wheat
flour, three-fourths cup corn meal,
3 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, half cup milk,
1 teaspoon salt.

Sift together the flour baking powder and salt and mix with the meal.
Rub the butter into the dry ingredients. Beat the egg, add the milk, and add this mixture to the dry ingredients. Add more milk if necessary to make a soft dough. Roll out on a floured board, handling lightly. Cut with a round biscuit cutter, fold like Parker House rolls and bake in a quick oven.

WEEKLY GREETING

Great minds, and perhaps great minds only, understand the exquisite truth that no man stands in another's way in the road to honor, that the world is wide enough for the virtues and talents of all.—Joseph Story.

LESSONS OF THE WAR

Every traitor and every near traitor in the United States is inquiring, "What are we going to get out of this war?" Well, among other things, we are going to get a better grade of patriotism. We are going to put an end to building up foreign colonies in the United States as breeding places of treason. We are going to love every foreigner who really becomes an American, and all others we are going to ship back home. We are going to quit hiring men in banks and public offices simply because they speak foreign languages. In this way we expect to encourage the speaking of the English language.

We are not going to let men come into the United States without some kind of a bond, guaranteeing that they are not going to engage in burning property or in carrying on secret work on behalf of the country they come from. Out of this war we are going to get a new United States. We are going to hate nobody, but we are going to be prepared to fight, whenever necessary. The people of the United States are going to get more out of this war than will be returned to any other country in the world.

Guard Against Fire in the Forest

Matches

Be sure your match is out before throwing it on the ground. Break it in two.

Tobacco

Throw pipe ashes and cigarette and cigar stumps in the dust of the road, and stamp out the fire. Do not throw them into needles, leaves or brush.

Making Camp

Make a small camp fire. Build it in the open—not against a tree or log or near brush. Scrape away anything burnable near it.

Leaving Camp

Never leave a camp fire alone, even for a brief time, without pouring water upon it and then covering it with earth. See 1914 hunting license.

Bonfires

Do not make bonfires when it is windy, or when or where there is the least danger of getting beyond control. Avoid making a larger fire than necessary.

Fighting Fire

If you discover a fire, endeavor to put it out. If you cannot, get word of it to the nearest federal or county fire guard.

Information

Keep in touch with the rangers. Ascertain the number of the district in which you are camping from United States forest rangers, county clerks or newspaper offices. Make a note of it on a card or memorandum book.

Echoes From the Firing Line

"Just back from a most exciting day at the office. We have been asked to help the department of the Alene. 10,000 people from nearby towns were herded together in a town that in normal times contained 4000. They were locked in cellars and hadn't been allowed out since the first of December. They were half starved and so covered with vermin that they hardly looked human. The wounded had no care and their wounds were in a fearful condition.

The stench of these poor creatures was so awful that their seasoned nurses were all ill. They found that dead bodies had been systematically shut up with the children for five days in order to breed disease amongst them. There is no UNSPEAKABLE thing that was not done to them. We got busy at once and managed 100 bales and cases of warm clothing, blankets, rice, dried beans, peas and condensed milk.

"I had to give out the bags and my four big boxes of cigarettes and 200 flags all alone, and was very busy. I had to run the length of the train (you know how long it is) until the very last minute giving out things. The men were marvelously cheerful and so enthusiastic over the recent advance that it has made them optimistic.

stood on the end of the train and waved to them all as the train pulled out, and they leaned out of every window waving their flags and calling gaily to me until the train turned the curve. Then I went down to see Madame C. at the canteen, and there I found such a sight as I have never seen since the war began—or ever, of course, even imagined before:

"Around the long table were crowded old men, women and children, sent back from the towns that have been retaken. Madame C. was feeding them and around the table passed a constant stream of those who came hoping to find those they loved and had not heard from for nearly three years. I meant to ask them questions, but I could not. I was too overcome.

Never has the war come home to me in all its horror as it did in that moment. There were about 500 people standing in line for their turn to go down into the canteen. They were taken in groups of fifty at a time. I shall never forget the look in the faces of those waiting their turn the expressions of mingled dread and hope. After two and a half years of suspense they were to know the truth.

There were heart-rendering scenes of reunion, but also dreadful scenes of despair. One soldier going back to the trenches came to get news of his wife, and was told that the Germans had carried her off! Imagine the rage and despair and fury in his poor heart. It was too appalling. I couldn't help sobbing all the way home in the metro. How can these things be borne? How frightful to wait so long for your bad news. It's much better to have it over at once.

I don't know how women bear the things they must. If they broke down it wouldn't be so bad. That quiet courage I cannot bear. They were all quiet at Madame C.'s, but the most intense feeling of which human beings are capable was concentrated in their faces. The very atmosphere of the place was full of it. Even writing about it upsets me, and I shall have to stop. It is so dreadful to see suddenly all the terrible things I have suffered in my heart on the faces of hundreds of poor creatures. No one moaned or cried out or complained—they all accepted what was told them with a quiet, infinitely pitiful.

Governor Appeals for Hoover Pledges

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 29.—An appeal to the men and women of the State "as Americans, as Californians, and as lovers of your Nation and of humanity" to sign the food pledge was made today by Governor Wm. D. Stephens.

The proclamation reads:

"Urged by my sense of patriotic duty to support every effort toward the Nation's victory in the struggle now being waged on land and sea, I appeal to the women and the men of California to at once sign the food pledge of the Federal Food Administration.

"These pledges will be presented at every door, they will appear in the newspapers, they will be spoken of in the churches, theatres and moving picture houses. Every agency—Federal, State, county, municipal, public and private, will be used to bring these pledges to your notice. Every woman and every man in California should sign.

"The pledge is a simple one. It merely states that the signer is glad to join the Federal administration in the service of food conservation of our Nation and that the signer accepts Food Administration, pledging herself or himself to carry out the directions and advice of the food administrator in the home, so far as circumstances permit.

A unity of American homes arrayed against the enemy will mean certain success."

Social Service Lecture

At the Methodist Church, next Wednesday evening, Dr. Margaret S. McNaught, publicist and school administrator, will give an interesting and instructive talk on social welfare work. She has spoken to audiences all over California, and in many communities she initiated activities which have become permanent.

Make an effort to attend the lecture. There will be no admittance fee.

Christmas Packages

The shipment of Christmas packages for our troops in France will be packed tomorrow afternoon. All articles should be in before noon.

Bring small tin boxes for dried fruits and candies to Red Cross headquarters.

The next Christmas shipment—the one for American soldiers in cantonments—will be made next week.

Knitted articles are needed at once for shipment. Please return remnants of yarn.

CLUB NOTES

By MISS I. A. JOHNSON

The Boys' Club had a Halloween party on Monday, to which a few girls were invited. A friend sent a quantity of favors and with their distribution and a number of new games, the evening passed very quickly.

To help Hoover the boys voted unanimously to do without the usual weekly refreshments.

They have taken up knitting, and now that the Junior Red Cross has started there will be many outlets for their activity.

As these boys are to be the men of the future, it is well that they should learn now to realize that they owe service to their country, and that it is not enough to sing patriotic songs and wave the flag.

This campaign of helpfulness is to have an untold influence on the characters of the coming generation, so let us do all we can to encourage and stimulate it.

Gus Wolter of Carmel Valley is slated to appear before the Exemption Board at Salinas tomorrow.
